Feel free to contact us through our official Instagram page or email if you have any feedback about our little creative project or if you'd like to be a part of it. Originally started on Substack, this magazine has now evolved into a different kind of writing experiment. Many parts of the magazine are recursive and semi-autonomous, featuring ARG-like QR codes, cryptic messages, tulpas and magick, games, and puzzles designed as mental exercises for our readers. Despite its non-linear structure, I have tried to preserve a coherent layout throughout.

For now, distribution is entirely digital, but we may consider a printed zine format in the future. Our magazine draws inspiration from both mainstream and niche sources (Playboy, for instance), while maintaining its own distinct identity. Every issue is curated with a different thematic essence, often revolving around new-wave entertainment, occultism, and introspection. At the moment, everything is written by me. However, we are open to new writers, editors, and artists for future issues.

1. Aenteliyana Chapter 1 : Pray, Mr. Rat, will you go with me?
Who are you? Please answer 5 questions, and follow the laws of five. Are you perhaps an unicorn? If yes, say yes! Timothy Leary dances in bewilderment, I can't even drink a damn fine cup of coffee, mr frog is being summoned out of a wall.

2. Depth to Nothingness: Deaf To Happiness (Essay based on Dhruv Vyas movie)
A rebellion against traditional narratives, David Lynch in LSD with Haruki Murakami! A writer and two distinct world, is he undergoing an underworld? Is there any way to find pure happiness? Is reality a sexy shitty hallucination? Why Camus is angry at me?

3. One and The same essay
Hero's journey, Joseph Campbell in DMT! Monochrome dreams with Sophia and Shakti, I miss my Shakti while I try to summon shiva.

4. Psychedelia Junkbox
Someone please shut Alex Thornfield mouth

5. Saraswati is dancing in the Silk Road while listening to kitaro

6. Nayak The Writer Part 2

7. Anonymous Interviews
